The wife of the leader, who is a skilled mechanic in the milita, ir uda French and the mechanic in the milita, ir uda French and she is famed all over the town for herskill in cooking and housewifer, Does that not strike you as a curious combination for the wife of a workman.

We trust that the editorial demagogue of the Horld will study this charming picture drunn by one of his subordinates and reflect upon its meaning. While he is about it he might compare the home life of the American iron worker under our tarif laws with that of his English brother who is noid according to the standard of free trade Providing his pencil is long enough he might figure out just how many years it would take an English workingman under the free trade scale of wages to se-care a home worth "more than $3 000" and have it all paid for

The Usual Appeal

The Homestead strikers have sent out the usual appeal for funds to the workingmen of the country | If the workingmen see fit to contribute to the support of these men in their self imposed idleness it is their own affair, but it will be a stupid action on their part. How many members of the different organizations that are now being flooded with these begging circulars begin to carn the wages that are so scornfully rejected by the stilkers? These men are posing as marty)s to the "greed of a great corporation and at the same time are giving one of the most contempt ible exhibitions of selfishness on record in this country. The handful of men affect ed by the proposed scale would be able to ears if they would go to work more in one month than the average man can earn in three or four months some of them are living in their own houses worth $3,000, which they have saved in a few years others have money out at interest, one of the wealthy strikers' being quoted in a Democratic paper as worth $50 000, and yet these menure actually soliciting the funds of the hard working nien of the country to selp them resist a scale of wages that would be regarded as a for

The leaders of this strike are intelligent men for the most part. They know that it means hardship for the workmen and their families if this at peal is responded to, but they care nothing for that so long as they get the money I hluk of a man who is supporting his family on six or seven dollars a week being asked to put aside something from his earnings to aid in the support of another man's family when that min is able to earn "about $144 a month of he will only take off his cont and go to work We confess that we have very little patience or sympathy with such a man, whose selfishness is astonishing especially when it is remembered that he pretends to complain of the alleged selfishness of others. As the strikers are losing nearly $8,000 a day a good answer to their begging circular defective would be a suggestion that they go to law Walker & Co slabs Morse & Co good answer to their begging circular work

If the men who have received this appeal desire to know the actual condition of affairs in Homestead they can obtain the neces ary information from the statement of the Democratic chairman of the n vestigating committee, Congressman Oates, of Mabama who sau.

The man who goes to Homestead with the idea that he is going to find a lot of ragged half starved and ignorant strikers will have a great surprise before him. It is revelation in the way of a community of workingmen. Into are men of thought of a cream and of independence. They have their homes, and the skilled workingen true from $1.50. $2.75 per month. The wives have taught them that there is an Encyclopedia Britannica in the case. Nearly every that them that there is an Encyclopedia Britannica in the case. Nearly every that in town seems to have subscribed for the big work and they have not bought the dreap American edition either. I have men have shown them what a fine thing an encyclopedia is there is a piano in the room too. The other rooms are furnished as invitingly as the parlor. There is taste and comfort in every room. The kitchen is furnished relatively better than the parlor. But above all is shown the exquisite matness and cleanliness. This is not peculiar to this man shouse. It is shown in all the houses of the town. The excessive cleanliness is oppressive to one who had wandered about the flats occupied by the people of New York. And all the women are like this man swife, busy sewing, when you go into the house.

A bright, chearful and charmingly furnished home is that of Hugh O'Dounell, who gained such wide fame as the leader of the men. He owns one of the larger cottages. It has ten rooms. And there is about it the plot of grass, with the flower gardens. World's Fair and Other Matters Passenger Coaches Thrown Down an Embankment.

St. Catharines, Out., July 18. This morning the steamboat Express from Buffalo collided with a local train for Port Collogne on the Welland division of the Grand Trunk rallyoad a short distance WASHINGTON, July 18. Among the papers laid before the Senate by the presiding officer (Mr. Manderson) were resolutions of the district assembly, No. 29, Knights of Labor, of New York, stating that the labor troubles at Homestend are the outcome of the wage system, and demanding that the Pinkerton forces and their employers be treated and dealt with as pirates; that they be indicted, tried, sentenced and executed as national malestations. Referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

A conference was ordered on the fortification bill, Messrs. Gorman, Steyart and Allison being appointed conferees on the part of the Senate. Mr. Pefer desired to west of Merriton station short wooden bridge crosses the in general.

A short wooden bridge crosses the water power raceway there and the engine of the boat train had just crossed the structure when the collision occurred. The first two coaches of the boat train were thrown from the track and over the embankment, plunging into the race stream. The engines were completely demoilshed and thrown across the track to the opposite bank. Up to noon three bodies were recovered from the wreck, those of Engineer Chapman, of the mail train; David Hunt, fireman of the boat train, and a passenger named Van Slicke, floation bill, Messers. Gorman, Stewart and Allison being appointed conferees on the part of the Senate. Mr. Peffer desired to call up the resolution for a select committee on the Homestead troubles, but gave way for the deficiency bill.

Mr. Mitchell, from the Committee on Claims, reported a resolution declaring that the in judgment of that committee all French spoliation claims reported from the court of claims should be investigated by and reported from their correction. train, and a passenger named Van Slicke, belonging in Buffalo. DIFFBRRNT VIEWS Regarding Junisdiction in Alaskan Waters.

OTTAWA, Ont., July 18. The government has received an official report of the seizure of the sealers' supply steamer Coquillam, in Alaskan waters, by the United States revenue cutter Cowwin. The ground assigned for the seizure is that the vessel transferred goods within the four league limit, but as no such limit of jurisdiction is recognized by international law, it is expected that the government will strongly appose the United States contention. We passed through a narrow alley, between two friendly buildings, which seemed strongly inclined to lean on one another's shoulders crossed the rough cobblestones of the little market place and gaining the farther sude of the bridge found ourselves on a broad, level walk, which skirted the southern side of the small valley wherein the village lies. Remarkable Auction Sale of Pictures in Landon [I onton Sinclard]

The sale of the late Lord Dudley's celebrated pictures by old masters at Christle 8 on Saturday, was unquestionably the great event of the season in which there has been much to interest collectors, critics and that section of the public to whom the study of art is one of the most pleasant forms of recreation To reverse the customary arrangement of facts we may state at once that the total expenditure during the afternoon The two "sensational" affairs of the after-The two "sensational" analys of the after-noon were the sale of the chef-d'evre of the great Dutch master of landscape, Hobbems and the famous painting of the Cruchiston by Raphael, which it seems almost juriedible to think was the work Crucifixion by Raphael, which it seems almost incredible to think was the work of a boy of seventeen. What would the imbitious youth have felt could he have foreseen that at a place to be called Christie's, it would in 1892 change hands for 10 000 guineas. Even in days when subjects of a religious character were handled so familiarly, it was singular that a mere boy, as Raphael was then, should have ventured such a theme as the "Crucifixion." but it was still more strange that he should have attained to such mastery of color as he displayed in it, no matter how closely he may have inntarted his master. Perugino The picture was painted for the chapel of the Gavari family in the Dominican church at Citta di Castello, and was one of the several purchases made by the late Earl from the feath of lection at Rome. When it was knocked down on Saturday to Dr. Richter, there was agitation amongst a few patriotic minds lest it was going over the channel to Berl'a, but all doubte and fears were dispelled when Mr. Woods made the welcome announcement that it was not to leave the country, having been purchased by Mr. Ludwig Mond, of the well known sait and alsali firm, Mond & (o, of Cheshire

Thr woody landscape—A view in Holland—by Hobbena, with cowe by A Van de Velde was the subject of spritted bid ling commencing at 2,000 guineas, and finally reaching 9,600 guineas, at which figure it was knocked down to Mr. Ag new

The highest sum next to this was for the elaborate group of "The Virgin and Child with Saluts," by Carlo Crevelli, fin-Child with saints, by Carlo Crevelli, finished with a minuteness of detail resembling the old missail litudinations one of Lord Dudley's flast purchases from the Barker collection in 1846. This masterplete fell to Mr. Murray at 7,000 guineas. The precious little work of F. Mierls, "The En morred Cavaller," which at the Bredel sale of 1875 sold for more than 4,0001, and at the Levy sale for 3,000 gs, at which price Mr. Vokins, who loves such highly floished, thorough kind of art, doubtless felt happy over a bargain, though he had a sift contest with Mr. Martin Colnaghi.

The fine Wouvermans, "The Hait of a Sporting Party," was bought by Mr. Charles Wertheimer at 3,500 gs., and a perfect specimen of Adrian Ostade, secured by Mr. Agnew, was cheap at 3,500 gs., considering that it fetched more than 4,0001, when purchased from the Schuelder collection.

Noticeable instances of a full in prices were those for "The Ruin," by Jacob Rayadel, which fell to Mr. Lesser at 1,400 gs., after having brought 2,300gs, at the Bredel sile, Murillo's "Old Woman and Boy" (once in the gallery of Don Schastian Martinez), which at the Salamanca sale cost the buyer 3,400L, and is now the property of Baron von Carstangen at 1,800gs, and the "Virgin and Child with St. John." by Lorenzo di Credi, for which the late Earl paid 4,000L, and has now passed to Mr. Voktos for 2,400gs. "The second Raphael picture" "La Vierge a la Legende," formerly in the collection of Lord Gwydirt when it was ascribed to Guilo Romand, and: attenwards in the Novar sale, whence Mr. Agnew purchased is for Lord Dudley at 3,000gs.
